Screening of films to mark World Nature
Conservation Day by Films Division

Screening of documentary films that underline the inseparable relationship between nature and human beings will mark the World Nature Conservation Day on 28 July 2021 by Films Division. The films will be streamed on Films Division website and YouTube Channel.

The package includes Actualities from Wilderness (23 Mins/ 2018/ Mukesh Sharma), a film which appeals to the public to save forests and wild animals to maintain a balanced ecosystem. It also highlights the new techniques and schemes of nature conservation with the pro-active support of people who live close to the forests, including the tribals.

The Wild Paradise (27 Mins/ 2012/ Syed Nassif Ahmed) is an inspirational film on Manas National Park, a UNESCO Natural World Heritage site. Located in the Himalayan foothills in Assam, the Park has proved that change of role of humans from predators to committed and protective individuals reaps rich dividends. The film is a heartwarming story of how major challenges like poachery and smuggling can be addressed, while simultaneously ensuring rehabilitation and employment generation of the locals and the forest dwellers.

My Son Neo (15 Mins/ 2021/ S. Shanmuganathan) is a parenting success story of a young couple. This film illustrates how the young parents allow a five year old boy, Neo to grow up amidst natural environment, loving all living beings and thus setting an example for others.

The documentaries will be streamed on <https://filmsdivision.org/> “Documentary of the Week” section and <https://www.youtube.com/user/FilmsDivision> on Friday, the 28th July, 2021, for 24 hours.
